How do you reset a mini jambox

Most Helpful Answer ... For me what worked was I did exactly like the video 1 turned it on 2 plugged it in while pressing the button 3 clicking the button multiple times 4 leaving it pressed for a couple of seconds 5 turned it off and turned it back on and then it started going red and white. And thats when it connected Factory Reset Hold down the Talk button Plug in the Jambox to the charger Release the Talk button I bought a Jambox about half a year ago. Sound wise it is great, but apparently it is not very stable, especially after recharging it falls into some state where it only utters static noise. In this state it still plays music over the aux cable, but not any more over bluetooth. Apparently the issue is the aux port which has two contacts that should touch each other when there is no aux cable inserted. But, because of manufacture problems these two contacts don't touch on some device, even though there is no aux cable inserted. So: The jambox thinks there is an aux cable, but there is none. That's why it utters static noise So, because I have a device with such problems I needed to hard reset my jambox half a dozen. That's why I thought I finally write it down. Soft reset: Holding down the circle button (talk button) and plugging it into the charger and then releasing. You will see the red flash Unpair / Pair again; being deleting it from every device, restarting all of them and pairing once more Hard reset: Turn off bluetooth on all devices in reach, then turn on the jambox and press the circle button six times, when you see the light flash red, press the circle once more and hold it and it will go into pairing mode Update the software to >=2.1 using mytalk.jawbone.com Insert an aux cable and removing it again (worked a few times for me) Insert a small screw driver. This connects the two metal contacts which should touch each other to make the Jambox believe there is no AUX cable inserted If the screw driver thing is working for you, you might consider putting a screw into the aux port (see photo) If nothing of the above works, you can solder a bypass of the aux port (which is what I finally did) I don't recommend buying a Jambox to anyone, I completely agree with this review on Amazon Let's reset this Jambox So, at the bakery we use the Jawbone Jambox. We actually use two of them… we have the regular Jambox (in blue of course for Yeni) and in the kitchen we have the Big Jambox. I'll tell you why I love the Jambox in a bit — first let me tell you what to do when your Jambox doesn't light up or when your Jambox doesn't respond. Resetting the Jambox# This is actually one of the easier resets I've done, but like anything… once you know how, it seems much easier. Without further ado: Make sure your Jambox is off (like in the picture above) Make sure your Jambox is NOT plugged in Press and hold the big round button on the top of the speaker While you're still holding, plug the Jambox into a power source It should light up immediately For me, it was that easy. Simple as pie. Now, Why I Love the Jambox# One of my favorite pizza places in Gainesville is Mamma Mia NY Pizza (off 23rd Ave and Main St). One night Yeni and I are eating dinner and chatting with the owner Sean… the music sounds awesome. First Sinatra… then Martin… back to Sinatra… it was awesome. I told him that his system sounded great — and Sean just smiled. "System?" he said… "it's a Jambox." I went home and ordered one for the bakery that night. Now, Yeni jams in the decorating room listening to whatever she wants. We connect it via bluetooth to her iMac. It might be iTunes… or Pandora… or an MP3. Whatever she chooses, it just sounds amazing. People cannot believe that we have the sound coming from this little box tucked away in the corner. Now for the kitchen, I needed something that could pump up the volume to 11. The system had to drown out the mixers, the over, the fridge, and the sink… all at the same time. So, for the kitchen I chose the Big Jambox. It's out of site and sounds amazing. We power it from a first generation iPod touch. Up until tonight, the two had worked flawlessly (about 3 – 4 months or so); pumping out the beats about 10 hours a day. Today, for no apparent reason, Yeni's Jambox stopped responding. No lights. No music. No nothing. It made me sad. Nothing seemed to work… and then, low and behold. Sometimes things just work after a reset. Resetting the Jambox Make sure your Jambox is off (like in the picture above) Make sure your Jambox is NOT plugged in. Press and hold the big round button on the top of the speaker. While you're still holding, plug the Jambox into a power source. It should light up immediately. Why won't my jawbone pair with my phone? The mobile technology company — which invented wireless phone headsets, Bluetooth speakers and fitness-minded wrist wearables — announced in July it was liquidating its assets. Why did my jawbone fail? Soon thereafter, Jawbone discontinued its relationship with its outside customer service agency after they were unable to pay for their services, according to Business Insider, failing to replace it with customer service of any kind and angering its remaining customers in the process. How do I update my Jawbone Big Jambox? To update your Big Jambox, visit the mytalk.jawbone.com site and follow the directions to connect your Big Jambox to your computer and perform the update. How do I connect my jawbone to my iPhone? Pair the Jawbone with the iPhone. Tap "Jawbone" in the list of Devices in the Bluetooth menu on the iPhone. Enter the pin number "0000" when prompted by the iPhone and tap "Connect." The two devices should now be paired. Test the connection by placing a call from the iPhone while wearing the Jawbone. JAMBOX is in pairing mode and ready to connect to your phone or Bluetooth® device. Go to your phone's Bluetooth® settings to connect. Use this button to answer or end a call, access DialApps like Voice Dial (press and hold for 2 seconds) or hear battery status updates (single press). PLUS and MINUS BUTTONS on JAMBOX. The battery is one of the most fundamental components to the JAMBOX MINI. It is used to power the device. Replacing it is very difficult and should only be attempted it absolutely necessary. How long does Big Jambox battery last? Jawbone says the battery on the Big Jambox will last up to 15 hours – "up to" being the important qualifier. Can Jambox play while charging? I love my small Jawbone Jambox. It's the older model. It's not too expensive on eBay and it looks cool as well. Lasts a while on a charge. If you want to use the speaker while charging, lower the volume of the speaker. Otherwise, turn off the speaker and charge the battery to its full capacity. When you use the speaker at a loud volume for a long time, the battery may run low even if the speaker is connected to an AC outlet. How to Make Jawbone Louder Jawbone Original. Press the Noise Shield labeled "Jawbone" to raise the volume one level at a time. Jawbone Prime. Press the Noise Assassin button at the top of the device. Jawbone ERA & ICON. Press and hold the "Talk" button at the top of the earpiece to increase and decrease the volume. Is it okay to use the speaker while charging? As hinted earlier, the answer is yes. You can also get to operate your Bluetooth speaker by making use of the battery rather than the USB AC adaptor. To get this done, you just need to do a plugging of the USB AC adaptor to an alternating current outlet. To answer the question again, no, there are no dangers in keeping your Bluetooth speaker plugged in even when it's completely charged. It is totally safe to leave your wireless speaker charging overnight or to use it while it is plugged in. Is using headphones while charging bad? Wearing earphones while charging your phone puts you at risk of getting brain damage because of radiation emission and in the case that electricity is conducted. On the other hand, using your earphones for calls WHILE it is NOT CHARGING is advisable as it helps reduce the amount of radiation that goes to your head. How can I charge my speaker without a charger? Charge with your laptop. It is always easier to carry a micro USB cable. Charge with power bank. You can find many online platforms selling power bank for charging your Bluetooth speaker. Opt for wireless charging instead. Make yourself a wireless one. Replace your battery.
